LOS ANGELES (August 10, 2000) – In anticipation of the Democratic National Convention, the Los Angeles Downtown Center Business Improvement District (DCBID) has added additional links on its website, www.downtownla.com. The links provide information on the convention, Downtown traffic conditions and the latest information directly from the City of Los Angeles.

"With the expected 35,000 delegates and visitors during the convention, the DCBID is doing everything it can for Downtown's workforce, businesses and property owners to obtain up to date information about the convention as easily as possible." said Randall K. Ely, DCBID chief operating officer.

The Downtown Center BID is a coalition of property owners united in their commitment to enhance the quality of life in Downtown Los Angeles. The organization aims to help the 65-block central business district – The Heart of the City – achieve its full potential. Nearly 250 property owners provide funds to the district via a special tax assessment. Further information on Downtown events and real estate opportunities is available at www.downtownla.com.
