“With a growing number of our clients considering office space in Downtown, the DCBID’s knowledge and resources are invaluable. They came to our office and in less than one hour gave a crash course to our entire team. They spoke our language, tailored their content to our needs, and showed us how to help our clients find the right space in DTLA. They even brought lunch!”

– Ron Burkhardt, Managing Director, NGKF West LA

The Downtown Center BID (DCBID) is your source for information on Downtown LA. As part of our new “DTLA: Make It Yours” campaign, we have produced new materials and resources to support office brokers with clients interested in DTLA.

To introduce these materials, we’re rolling out a Lunch & Learn series for top brokerage offices around the region. We will bring our brief (20-30 minute) presentation to your office, along with lunch (or breakfast if morning is better), and provide high-quality printed copies of our Guide to Downtown Office Space for you and your colleagues to give to prospective tenants.
